EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

This Month's Employee Spotlight is on Selena Walter! Selena is a Graphic Design major, and is now in her last semester here at APU. She joined IMT in Spring of 2015 as a lab technician, and currently holds the title of IMT Graphic Design Intern. In the workplace, Selena is known for amazing IMT Newsletter designs, her fun personality, and her second name Hongsuan. Outside of the workplace, Selena is known for late night gaming, her amazing dance skills from APU Lu'au , and for passion wanting for making every design better. After APU Selena hopes to go join a company as one of their graphic designers...If given a choice Disney would be her first. In every IMT Newsletter Selena makes she shows her passion for the design and for God. So from all of us here at IMT, we would like to thank you for all your hard work!

GRADUATING SENIORS

BOOK OF THE MONTH

Good to Great
by Jim Collins

This book is unlike most other business books you'll find out there. It doesn't rely on the qualitative, experiential tales from a successful company. Good to Great takes an empirical, quantitative research orientated approach to discovering what principles led to successful transformation of good companies into great companies. The research team behind the book let the data from the research drive the direction of the book rather than letting their own biases speak. The findings are both fascinating and challenging. Don't be put off either, everything that they discover is applicable in whatever context you find yourself. I plan on making this book something I revisit often
